

Matrix metalloproteinases in heart disease: From bench to bedside

Dr. Richard Schulz and Brandon Chan will discuss how inhibition of matrix metalloproteinase (MMP) activity protects the heart from ischemic and inflammatory injuries.

Dr. Richard Schulz is a professor in the Departments of Pediatrics and Pharmacology, and Brandon Chan is a graduate student in the Department of Pharmacology.

---

February 1
11:30 a.m. to 1:00 p.m.
ECHA 2-420

A pizza lunch will be provided.

---

The Connecting Through Research series is presented by the Women and Children's Health Research Institute and the Department of Pediatrics.